ABOUT SURAASA

What would you learn if you had the privilege of training 100,000 teachers and working with a colossal number of 1500 schools?

Our team at Suraasa learnt a lot about different teachers' needs and aspirations, along with schools' expectations from the teachers.

The most important learning was to solve the puzzle of matching teachers' aspirations with school requirements by working closely with both of them.

Suraasa is an international organization that helps teachers achieve greater professional and financial growth in their careers. We equip teachers with the pedagogical skills and resources that enable them to experience career satisfaction and continuous advancement.

We strongly believe that all teachers must get dedicated mentorship to achieve growth in their profession. This is why, when we started Suraasa, we decided to go international. We searched for the most sought-after teacher educators in the world and onboarded them as Suraasa Mentors.

We have brought together advanced technology, international mentors, and the best teaching techniques in the world to enable better teaching and successful teachers. After all, it is about our teachers' careers, and we have decided to go all in.

Importance of Online Teaching in the 21st Century?

Teaching has moved online, both for school teachers and tutors. More and more EdTech organizations are popularising online tutoring as a new career option.

Earlier, a 1-hour online session a day would suffice, but now:

- How do you engage children (sitting miles away) online from 8 AM to 2 PM straight?
- How do you bring the children to the classroom not just daily, but every 5 minutes now with too many distractions around them?
- How do you use different tools effectively that no child is left behind?

This Award in Teaching - Online Teaching and Learning is designed by experts to help our learners achieve all of the above, differentiate them from the crowd, and take their teaching career to newer heights.

How will this Qualification set you apart?

A qualification awarded by ATHE UK, approved by UK OFQUAL, and administered by Suraasa is a gold-standard in the world of online teaching. Learners earn 12 Credits and recognition from the most trusted education regulatory bodies globally, implying that they completed 120 hours of professional training in acquiring the skills that the world's best educators use.

The efforts and time our learners invest in completing the study modules and assignments are verified and presented in their Skills ePortfolio. A Skills ePortfolio adds credibility to a learner's profile in front of top employers. It opens doors to various national and international teaching opportunities. Learners are equipped with the same skills that top teachers globally have been mastering to engage students from different backgrounds and nationalities.

Our learners are praised by international schools for spearheading the online teaching revolution in their classrooms. Parents have started noticing the difference between a teacher skilled at Online Teaching versus the rest. Moreover, they have been appointed at several EdTech companies in successfully delivering and designing their courses.

Learners can also use these credits in the future towards international UK-Level 6 qualifications by Suraasa and ATHE; something they may opt for to progress in their career whenever they are ready, for top teaching opportunities in international boards schools in their own city or abroad.
